

THE
HISTORY OF

Henry the fourth

Henry the fourth

Printed by I. Iaggard, at the Sign of the Sunne, in St. Dunstons Church, in London.

The
Henry

Enter the King, L
Westmen

SO shaken
Find we a
And brea
To be cor
No more
Shall daul

No more shall trenching
Nor bruse her flourets w
Of hostile paces : those
Which like the Meteors
All of one nature, of one
Did lately meete in the in
And furious close of ciui
Shall now in mutuall we
March all one way, and
Against acquaintance, k
The edge of warre, like a
No more shall cut his M
As farre as to the Sepulc
Whose souldier now vn
We are impress'd and in Foorthwith a power of Whose armes were mou
To chase these Pagans in
Ouer whose acres walkt